

ORGANIC RED POTATOES

Farm Fresh & Certified Organic

Red potatoes are one of the most popular varieties among the thousands of potato varieties around the world. First cultivated in Peru, red potatoes are round to oval in shape and average 2 inches in size. Their smooth red skin and firm white flesh give way to more flavor and certainly more color than many of their pale-skinned cousins. Because of their great flavor and firmness, red potatoes are fun to cook with, absorb accompanying flavors well and are perfect for soups, salads and other boiled or roasted dishes.

Stukel Mountain organic potatoes are grown on approximately 1500 acres in the heart of the Klamath Basin outside the small town of Merrill, Oregon. An $8 million, state-of-the-art packing facility washes, polishes, optically sorts and analyzes the potatoes by computer for consistent size, shape and quality before packing. Housed in a 40,000 foot facility in Merrill, the system dramatically speeds the processing and packing operation to improve time to market and ultimately, quality and freshness.
